GOLF BALLS SUSPECTED IN AIRCRAFT DAMAGE

Knoxville, Tennessee—FAA officials at Knoxville's McGee-Tyson airport are investigating damage to a number of passenger and cargo aircraft. Small holes about an inch in diameter pepper the fuselage and wings of several planes. Passengers report finding golf balls in their luggage. One irate traveler found a green Maxfli in his rum and coke. "If I wanted to play golf I'd have stayed on the ground", he barked. Investigators have linked these bizarre incidents to the nearby Piney Lakes Golf Club. Though it is still not clear how the stray balls ever reached an altitude of 2500 feet, one course ranger has some suspicions. "I saw a guy duff his drive off the 14th, but instead of dribbling off the tee, the ball plowed a hundred yard trench down the fairway. He was using a new kind of club that I'd never seen before"

Piney Lakes Golf Club
Rockford
Tennessee

Dear Sirs,

It has come to our attention that a number of aircraft arriving and departing McGee-Tyson Airport have been severely damaged by high flying golf balls hit from your course. Passengers and flight attendants have complained about golf ball injuries in the cabin. Our investigators have linked these incidents to golfers using a new type of golf club on your course. Based on our investigation, we request that you to ban these clubs from your course forevermore.

Though this is just a request, if you fail to comply we will order a B-52 overflight of Piney Lakes. This will reduce your golf course to a scorched plain of smoking ash and rubble.

Yours truly,

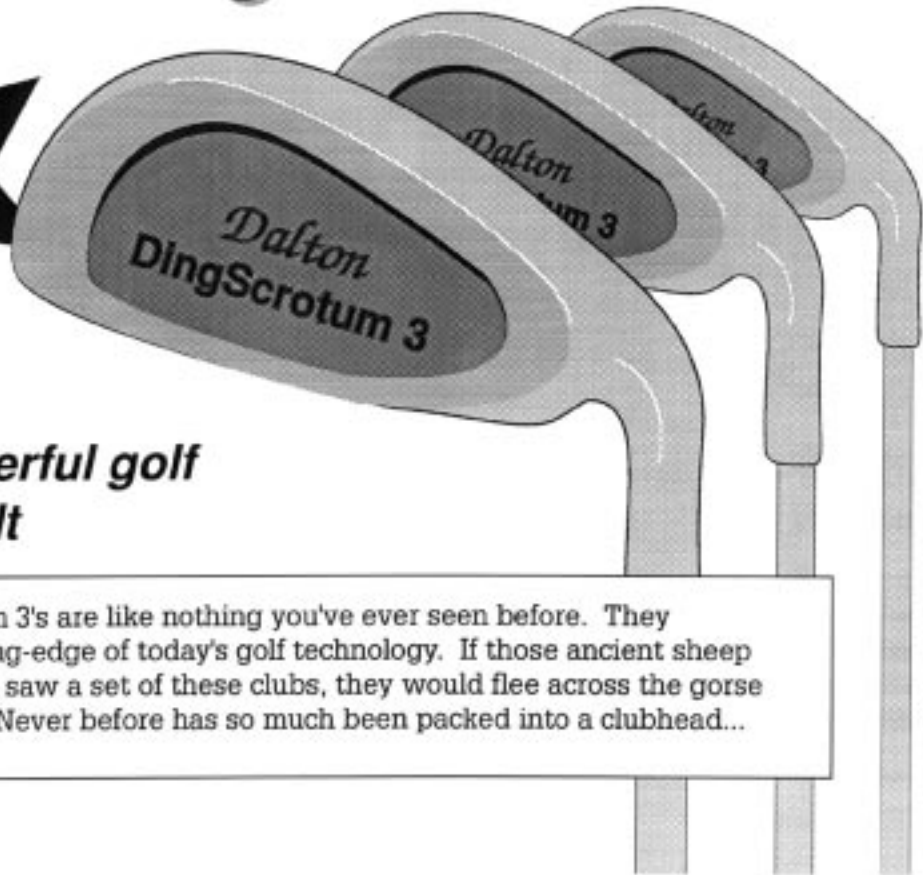

Richard Bleery-Crowdon III
Deputy Director
