

19.95 INDUSTRIES

"Not Found in Stores"

Once-in-a-Lifetime Idea

Just one more dumpster behind Winn-Dixie and I'd have a full load. All I had to do was go soak down my haul and cash in. While I was thinking how good a cold Bud would taste, a once-in-a-lifetime idea hit me, and buddy, it knocked me to my knees. I asked myself, "Why the heck am I fooling with cardboard when I could be into Fusion?"

You've heard about it!

I first heard something about Fusion a few weeks back, and it's been on my mind ever since. Two guys out West got Fusion out of a glass of heavy water with Palladin electrodes and a Die-Hard. Everybody's talking about Fusion. My step-father mentioned he'd seen Fusion between a utility pole and a nearby tree at night. My brother said he heard Fusion on the radio. Go to work, go to K-Mart, go to the Roman Room -- all you hear is fusion fusion fusion fusion fusion fusion fusion fusion and more fusion fusion fusion.

A Technically Sweet Problem

I began to study on the problem. I let the cardboard business go to hell, and the wife hardly ever saw me. If it could be done, then by golly I was going to do it. Fusion in a glass of water with Palladin electrodes sounds great, but it's not as simple as it looks. For one thing, Palladin is dead so you can't get silver bullets for electrodes anymore. And where was I going to get any heavy water?

Brilliant Solution

It didn't take me long to put two and two together: if Palladin could make electrodes out of silver bullets, then I could use 12 gauge 00 shells and probably get a lot more power. What about the heavy water? Heck I haven't been in the cardboard business all these years for nothing! They pay by the pound, so any fool knows to wet his cardboard down real good before he sells. All I needed was something to weigh down ordinary tap water to get it heavy. I jotted down an equation on the back of a piece of good corrugated:

Cardboard + Water = Heavy Cardboard

In a stroke of brilliance, I substituted Water for Cardboard on the right side of the equation and came up with something really sweet: Water Weights. Drop two Water Weights in a glass of tap water and you get Heavy Water. Drop in three and you get Heavier Water. Now I was ready for the big experiment!

The Moment of Truth.

I hooked up a 12 gauge 00 shell to one wire and put it in a jam jar. I put the other wire down in the jar. Then I poured in water and dropped in four Water Weights. Then I hooked both wires to the Die-Hard. Good gosh almighty it let off with a heck of a Fusion. The Fusion slammed me across the room against the wall. Every window in the basement blew out. My wife came a'hollerin' down the stairs. There I was on my knees on the concrete with my hair fried, my face black and my clothes nearly ripped off. I was burnt but I was happy. I knew I had really come up with something!

It's all for you...

Remember when those big eared guys back in the fifties used to tell us that Atomic Energy meant free electricity for everybody? Boy were they ever wrong. It took a humble guy like me with a dream to make it happen. And I'm going to give it away. That's right I'm going to give it away, not to the big ears or the egg heads, but to people just like you!

Order your kit today!

I just made up a batch of Water Weights and my own version of Palladin electrodes. Not a big batch mind you, but enough for a few good people. And I'll send you a full kit -- all you'll need to add is your car battery and some water. But hurry, I only have so many and then they're gone. What with repairing the basement it could be a while before I make up another batch. Just send me your order and a check for $19.95 to cover shipping and handling, and I'll send you your own Heavy Water Palladin Fusion Kit.

Still not sure?

Heck what have you got to lose? Your getting a free kit, your ticket to Fusion. Think of unlimited power! Just fill your gas tank with water and drop in a couple of Water Weights! Your car will never burn another drop of Arab gasoline. No more calls from old Mrs. Butt at KUB threatening to cut off the heat -- just drop in some Water Weights and refill the furnace with water! If you don't jump on this free Fusion offer you're dumber than a red hog! Send me your order and get into Fusion today!